ROCSEVELT CHANGED VIEW. Wall Street Says He Once Favored

Alton Reorganization.

NEW YORK, July 19.-President Roose velt, it was asserted in Wall street yesterday, despite the approval which he is understood to have given to the recent report of the interstate commerce commission on the Harriman railroads, and particularly the sections dealing with the Harriman re-organization of the Chicago and Alton, once gave no small measure of approval to the Alton reorganization by signing the special act of the New York legislature legalizing the Alton railroad bonds as an investment for savings banks in this state. Those who were disposed yesterday to criticise the Bresident for what mey termed his change of attitude in the matter of the Alton reorganization said that Presi-dent Roosevelt, then governor of New York, signed this act over the protest of savings banks and other interests, and that he did so with knowledge of the objections which even in 1000 were raised against this The bonds thus made a legal investment The bonds thus made a legal investment for savings banks in this state are the 3 per cent issue of the Chicago and Alton Railroad Company, which in 1.09 were sold to the road's stockholders at 65 cents on the dollar and later were sold out at a large profit after the act legalizing the bonds as a savings bank band trad

Maj. Dickman Discusses Foreign Troops in China in 1900 and Recent Developments There.

Special From a Staff Correspondent.

CAMP ORDWAY, BOLIVAR HEIGHTS, W. Va., July 19.-This is the last day in camp here of the 2d Regiment and Company C, 1st Regiment, which are to be detached tomorrow to the artillery district of the Potomac. Arrangements have been made for the railroad company to have one baggage car, one box car and one stock for consideration of those to follow. The tached tomorrow to the artillery district of car in position for loading at Harpers Ferry at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The three cars mentioned, with eleven passenger coaches, are to depart from the Harpers Ferry station at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning, and will convey the troops to the passenger station at New Jersey avenue and C street, Washington.

The troops designated, properly armed and equipped, in heavy marching order, will leave camp tomorrow morning in ample time to reach Harpers Ferry and board the train prior to 8 o'clock. The brigade band will head the column in the march from camp to the railroad station.

Going Through the Paces.

The companies going to the Potomac forts are working hard today. From 8 o'clock until 9 o'clock they drilled in school of the company in close and extended order; from 9 o'clock until 10 o'clock in school of the battalion in close order, and from 10 o'clock until 11 o'clock in school of the battalion in extended order. The same organizations are scheduled for company drill, in close order, from 4:30 o'clock until 5 o'clock this afternoon. The other organizations were on the drill field working in school of the company in close and extended order from 8 o'clock until 9 o'clock; school of the pattalion in close and extended order from 9 o'clock until 10 o'clock, and school of the regiment in close order from 10 o'clock until 11 o'clock. From 3 o'clock until 4 o'clock this afternoon instruction will be given officers and enlisted men by the battalion surgeons in the use of the emergency firstaid packet. Parade this afternoon will be by the 1st Regiment.

The temperature yesterday was the highest ever experienced by the National Guard of the District of Columbia at any of the three outlings at Bolivar Heights. The hard drilling was between 8 o'clock and the hottest part of the day most of the guardsmen were able to keep under shelter. Signs of a storm were noticeable when call for parade was sounded, and the air was cooler during the evening than it had been before, which was appreciated by the ports of the surgeons detailed as medical officers of the day. First Lieut. Charles men (and the animals) participating in the most elaborate event of the kind during the camp period. Fortunately, however, the elements did not get in their heavy work until the troops had deserted the parade ground, so everybody kept dry. concert by the brigade band. An Elaborate Ceremony.

The parade of all the troops, regulars and guardsmen, late yesterday afternoon was perhaps the most elaborate ceremony ever witnessed at an encampment of the National Guard of the District of Columbia. The organizations in line included the Brigade Band, the Corps of Field Music, the 2d Regiment, the 1st Regiment, the 1st the 2d Regiment, the 1st Regiment, the 1st Separate Battalion, the Ambulance Corps, Troops E. F and G. 13th United States Cavalry, Battery E. 3d United States Field Artillery, and the 1st Battery, Field Artillery, of the National Guard. Gen. Harries was in command and reviewed the troops. After the march past, the cavalry and the regular battery continued around the field, passing the reviewing officer first at trot. passing the reviewing officer first at trot, and then at gallop, the exhibition being an inspiring one.

The appearance of the District's battery was good, taking into consideration the fact that it had just completed the march from Washington, and much in the way of praise was bestowed on the organization.

The speakers gave the details of the plan for the reorganization of the Chinese army along modern lines, saying that the Flow-ery Kingdom, by the year 1915, will have an efficient standing army of 450,000 men, with about 900,000 trained soldiers in re-

Admiral Baird, Mathew Trimble and Stuart McNamara of Washington, are guests of Gen. Harries today. Hard Work the Rule.

A glance from headquarters hill through Camp Ordway today carries conviction that the busy bee is a sluggard compared with any member of the National Guard of the District of Columbia. The instruction intended for Wednesday was followed from 8 o'clock until 11 o'clock yesterday in connection with today's program. The latter called for one hour each of company, bat-talion and regimental drill in close order for the companies that are to remain here, and for the companies that are to be detached for duty in the artillery district of the Potomac instruction covering the battalion and regiment in advance and rear and outpost duty from 8 til 11:45 o'clock. A mounted drill for field and staff officers was in order from 11 until 11:45 o'clock. Commissioned officers assembled at 3 o'clock for infeature of the day was parade by all the troops in camp, including the regulars, be-ginning at 5:30 o'clock. It was the first parade other than by a regiment or separate organization during the outing. A large number of visitors were in camp today, many being from Washington. The railroad company conducted a special ex-cursion to Harpers Ferry. The visitors were on the field by 11 o'clock and many remained for the band concert beginning at 7 o'clock.

The visitors reached here in time to witness some of the work on the drill field and those having friends and relatives among the guardsmen took dinner in camp. The three guard mountings at 1:15 o'clock, 1:45 o'clock and 2:15 o'clock held their attention and then a base ball game, while the officers were at school, proved diverting.

"Holiday" Due to Rain.

Due to the rain Wednesday the enlisted man had a comparatively easy time. Aside from the general policing of the camp those not on guard had very little to do in a military way, as the parade was by the squadron of the 13th United States Cavalry. While the commissioned officers were receiving instruction in the manual of the saber a large portion of the enlisted receiving instruction in the manual strength of the command was witnessing a base ball game. The largest attendance of visitors thus far during the encampment witnessed the parade by the squadron of the 13th United States Cavalry, the brigade band participating in the ceremony. The squadron after the ceremony proper marched past in review at a walk, then at a trot and finally at a gallop. The appearance of the cavalrymen was thoroughly enjoyed by the spectators, both military and civilian. Concert by the brigade band was given as usual and for tattoo at 9 o'clock the corps of field music rendered a series of quicksteps and other selections for drum and Praise is heard upon all sides of the exofficers of the day. First Lieut. Charles H. Bowker, the last to serve in the capacity mentioned, reports the sanitary condition of the camp as excellent. He adds that the kitchens and ice boxes are in better condition than at any previous camp

"The present method of disposing of slops and garbage is the best of the various we have tried," Lieut, Bowker explains. "Water is abundant and so far as I can determine, good. Ice is furnished regularly. "The bakery seems to be in competent hands and to be turning out good bread. The shower baths are well patronized. "In support of my statement as to the excellent sanitary condition of the camp and as evidence in favor of the advantage of such a condition, I would call attention to the small number of men on sick re-

The instructions for medical officers of the day provide that their tour of duty shall commence at guard meeting and con-tinue for twenty-four hours. They will make two inspections of the entire camp while on duty—at 3 o'clock p.m. and at 9 o'clock a.m. Should they find imperfect sanitary conditions they will report them at once to the field officer of the day with recommendations for correction. On being relieved from duty, after consulting with the surgeon general, the medical officers are required to submit a written report to the acting adjutant general on the sani-

Ferry to open collars, loosen cinches, cool off the horses' shoulders and apply water and sponges.

The battery pulled out of its Tuesday night's camp, a mile east of Point of Rocks, at dawn Wednesday. The distance covered Jefferson and Knoxville. The way was extremely hilly, the whole line of march being across a mountain country. Hills roads, where not bare and rocky, were deep with mud.

The positions of the men were shifted throughout the march, both for purposes of rest and practice. Cannoneers served as drivers and drivers as cannoneers. There was much walking for each class of men, but, of course, the cannoneers excelled in this exercise.

Arriving in camp on Bolivar Heights, the battery executed "on left into park. pitched pup tents, established picket lines, watered and fed stock, messed and mounted the men slept on the ground with only a poncho and blanket and a haversack for a pillow. Sibley tents were pitched yesterday, and much of the day was spent in cleaning guns, harness and horses in preparation for dress parade this evening. There has been very little sickness among through in good condition. There were only three to end the march with galled shoulders and these are being carefully nursed. C. F. C.

COAST DEFENSE PLAN GUARDSMEN TO AID IN MANEU-

By tomorrow evening twelve companies of the District brigade of guardsmen will have been transferred from Harpers Ferry to Fort Washington and Fort Hunt, and will have coast defense maneuvers jointly with the regular forces of the artillery district of the Potomac. Five companies will be stationed at Fort Hunt and seven across the river at Fort Washington, the latter being regarded as the center of operations. The troops will reach Washington about 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the B. & O. station, New Jersey avenue and C street, and march thence to the wharf of the steamer Jane Mosely, to embar! for the forts. Initiation into the complicated mysteries of the guarding of the Potomac will be the first part of the program for the members of the District National Guard, and as soon as the rudiments are mastered the actual maneuvers will begin. A tentative program has been drawn up, but has already been changed several times, and is subject to still further alteration, though P STREET NORTHWEST between 1st and the general scheme remains the same.

Night attacks are to be made upon the force by boats and landing parties, and vessels manned by men from the forts will attempt to pass the two frowning guardians of the Potomac, while the immense search-lights seek them out to checkmate their moves. moves. These night attacks will be not only spectacularly beautiful, but also will serve to demonstrate actual conditions of warfare in case of an attempt to make an attack by sea upon the city of Washington.

Land Atack.

But approach from the river is not the only form of attack to be attempted. Back of both forts there is a tempting wealth of woods and underbrush, and along the shores of the river there is a heavy fringe of bush, where crawling men may be effectually concealed. Detachments of the guardsmen will have the privilege of wriggling through this undergrowth in an en deavor to sneak up on the forst and take them by surprise by landward attack, while other guardsmen and regulars will stand by to repel the advance. All possible conditions of actual warfare so far as the movements of the men are concerned, are to be reproduced, under service conditions, giving a drill most valuable in practical educational results.

Regular officers in charge of the forts have been preparing for the joint ma-neuvers with the greatest interest and care and are enthusiastic over the prospect Sites for the camps have been selected with a view to the comfort of the visitors and sanitary arrangements are perfected. The water that the men will drink comes from artesian wells and is so pure that hardly any trace of minerals can be found in it. The officers' tents at Fort Washingin'it. The officers' tents at Fort Washing ton will be pitched near Col. Kauffman' summer camp, close to the parade and opposite the officers' houses. Electric wires were being laid yesterday to furnish light for the officers' quarters.

High on the plateau overlooking the Potomac, the campers at Fort Washing ton can pity their sweltering friends in the city, for, though "packing" a heavy gu around in the broiling sun will be warn work, there is always a cool breeze to be found when a man is off duty. At Fort Hunt the conditions will be similar to those at Fort Washington.

Planning the Campaign. Col. Kauffman and Maj. Stevens at Fort

Ordway, near Harper's Ferry, Tuesday evening, were brought to this city yesterday afternoon. The body was later taken to Fort Myer. According to instructions from the parents of the young trooper, the body was sent to his home at Pittsfield.

REPUBLICAN ROUGH HOUSE. Political Meeting With Six-Shooter for Gavel Special Dispatch to The Star.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., July 19 .- An attempt by Henry Asp, a railroad attorney of Guthrie, to address the republican county convention here yesterday converted the meeting into a fighting, howling mob. Pistols were drawn, knives flashed and chairs wielded with telling effect, resulting in bruises and minor injuries to several persons.

Deputy United States Marshal Bud Ledbetter appeared on the scene with a drawn six-shooter and restored order. Officers with drawn pistols, who threatened to shoot into the crowd if the fighting did not stop, falled to quell the disturbance before the appearance of Ledbetter. The trouble started when the forces op-posed to Gov. Frantz and statehood attempted to address the convention before the organization was perfected. Ledbetter saved Asp from being mobbed and took him to a place of safety. The Frantz forces were victorious in the test vote for temporary chairman, and the meeting then proceeded in an orderly manner. French Minister of Marine Thomson has

TILTING BED SPRING.

One of the most disagreeable tasks encountered by the housewife is the cleaning of the bedstead. This is equally true whether the bed be of wood or iron. She knows that the beds must be thoroughly and carefully gone over to prevent the gathering of undesirable insects, and to do this it is essential that every corner and crack be given attention. She finds it especially hard work to lift the heavy spring. A Chicago man has endeavored to make this part of the work easy by designing the tilting bed spring shown here. In this bedstead the spring is pivoted to one side of the frame and is connected at both ends with spring clamps. When the bed spring is raised the clamps hold it in a raised position, so that the entire overhauling of the bedstead becomes an easy matter. additional advantage lies in the fact that the floor beneath the bedstead can also be easily cleaned without the necessity of pushing the bed to all parts of the room to get at it.
